Humanity4.0 Magazine

In 2008, Humanity4.0 Magazine has evolved from our pnyv.org project. Humanity 4.0 is shifting focus to outstanding mega good practices that - replicated around the globe, offer rapid steps towards a global, peaceful, just and sustainable civilisation. We are now looking for partnerships for publishing in multiple languages.

More at <http://humanity4.org>.

Positive News Radio Shows

With our long-term Argentinian partner Noticias Positivas, we create ready-to-air Positive News Radio Shows, incl. interviews, stories, reports and music, and distribute them by free internet download to community radio stations. Since April 2008, more than 150 radio stations have joined, loving these special shows, and airing positive news radio shows weekly - all over Latin America!

Special Edition on WATER

On occasion of an expert Round Table on Water, we have published a Humanity4.0 Special Edition on WATER, in partnership with our long-term Canadian partner IHTEC and the organisers Science for Peace and Nobel Peace Prize recipient Pugwash Canada. 77 pages packed with a kaleidoscope of water related issues from good practices, expert views, media, games, education, youth leadership, crisis reports and consumption issues you haven't heard of make this document unlike any media on water published before. Experts call it "full of new learning, inspiring, powerful, magic, changing worldview and lifestyle". Nice :-). We are looking for partners supporting creation of similar powerful editions on youth leadership, indigenous people, education, youth, energy...

Open-Forum - events and side-events

Open-Forum is concerned with social and cultural development, events which enable and further capacity-building and quality exchange. This can be organised in central symposia or cultural / political / societal / or any kind of community or multi-cultural interest group.

Focus of the Open-Forum Salon is to cultivate and develop old and new dialog and decision cultures, including a peace-making and reconciliation focus.

Open-Forum has organised events and side-events over the last 20 years which look into diversity, co-creation and empowerment. literature and reports about past events can be found [here] - the latest activity - taking place end of May 2008 here]

WELCOME TO 10,001 SEEDS FOR CHANGE IN LEARNING & EDUCATION.

Filed under: Uncategorized — benkingnews @ 7:07 pm Edit This

 1001seeds

Join us in collecting, documenting, interlinking, combining the 'best & brightest' for a new learning culture.

It is time to disseminate and replicate good practices for the world of tomorrow. Please read → ABOUT SEEDS, and have a quick look at some very short examples. Please share yours here, so we can advance replication of good practices internationally, and promote the evolving resource network of visionary innovators and practitioners.

We are co-laborating with a variety of media partners and UN DESD projects in the Americas and Europe, specialising in lively documentation of change initiatives. You are most welcome to join this network!

Sharing your seeds with us is easy: Send us an email with reference to a good text, website and images to heiner@benking.de

Mindprint is about bringing together the tangible and intangible, the exact and fine arts and sciences, nature and the humanities. Here is a nice "Call" for such work and a letter of intent:

We have worked in the 90ies on T-personalities, lateral and diagonal thinking, mindscapes and a mind-book and how to augment the human intellect to be better able to share the new challenges of Cyerculture and Globalisation. Please come back as we will provide here some references.

Mindprint is about much more than just physical print-outs. It is about including the
